We are pleased that over the past two decades, the clubhouses under NTUC Club have provided members and guests with fun, relaxation and entertainment.

For better engagement of the changing demographics of union members, the management has taken the opportunity to strategise and relook at the overall concepts of our clubhouses.

The clubhouses will unveil its revamped concepts and new locations over the next few months, with Happy Days closing its doors at Princess Theatre Building on 29 August 2016 and reopening in the vicinity in September 2016. Jest D'Place, located at Choa Chu Kang Centre, has closed its lounge area for renovation and will unveil its changed concept in October 2016. In the last quarter of 2016, Union Square will shift from its current premises at 100 AM, 100 Tras Street, to another venue within central district. Scarlet City, situated at Ang Mo Kio Hub, will remain at its current location in the heartlands.
